News Digest.

Telegraphic news unimportant. A fire-eater had dropped a brand in the Maryland Legislature, which kindled an exciting debate.

More filibusters are reported having left New York for a port in Mexico.

HENRY MEACHAM, at Dickerson, N. Y., shot his wife, cut her throat, and shot himself.

The telegraph states that Judge DOUGLAS' health is still improving.

"THE MILK IN THE COCOA NUT."—Much surprise has been expressed in the political circles of this State, at Judge LARRABEE'S very warm and cordial endorsement of the BUCHANAN administration in his maiden speech, after he had canvassed his District, and secured his election as a DOUGLAS man. We hear the following explanation of this political phenomenon. Judge LARRABEE desires a change in the office of U. S. Marshal for Wisconsin, and hence wishes to stand well with "the powers that be." But it is quite certain that Old BUCK will not remove a Pennsylvania National Democrat from office, except for good cause; and none such exists against Marshal LEWIS.

POTTER AND VALLANDIGHAM.—The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette writes as follows:

The shot of Mr. Potter, of Wisconsin, at Vallandigham, of Ohio, for being connected in the John Brown affair, created much merriment. He is the man who attempted to extort answers from Brown while he lay wounded after the riot. The stupid reply of Mr. V. will bear no comment. The reason of the full Democratic vote for Vallandigham is undoubtedly because of his disunion speech. Some of his colleagues North refused to vote for him.

Our neighbor of the News, in its Pro-Slavery zeal, endorsed VALLANDIGHAM and misrepresented POTTER.

A SICKLES AFFAIR IN CHICAGO.—On Friday afternoon a man by the name of AUGUST WILLIAMS, actuated by jealousy and revenge, attempted the life of one CHARLES KAUFKOLZ, who, so the former asserted, had been on terms of improper intimacy with his wife. WILLIAMS discovered a letter written by his wife, which fell from KAUFKOLZ'S pocket.—He read it over, and found it to contain a confession of his wife's infidelity. The next step was to procure a horse pistol and to load it with powder and buck shot, and going to 41 Owen Street, about twelve o'clock at night, where his victim resided. He knocked at the door, KAUFKOLZ opened it, and WILLIAMS placing the pistol to the side of his head—fired. The wounded man struggled with his assailant, when WILLIAMS clubbed his heavy pistol and struck him over the head, cutting the scalp open in a frightful wound.

All this took place without a word exchanged on either side. WILLIAMS then dropped his pistol, went to the house of his father-in-law, on Garley street, there embraced his child with much emotion, saying, "I shall never see you again."

He then went to the Sheriff's Office, demanded to be taken into custody, saying he had killed a man, and adding, "It's another SICKLES case."

He converses readily about the affair, which he justifies, and indeed seems to place it in so exact a parallel with the Washington tragedy, that it is evident he has studied it as a precedent.

The wounded man lies in a very critical condition, the case will remain as at present pending the result of KAUFKOLZ' injuries.

THE AUTOCRAT OF NEW YORK.—The message of Mayor WOOD, of New York, is a refreshing document. In spirit, it is worthy of the "Little Corporal" of another age; but certainly lacks the brevity and terseness of NAPOLEON'S epistles. The sum and substance of Mayor WOOD'S rhetoric is, "Give me the power." If not "head of the army," he desires to be head and front of the police, and commander of all the departments. He labors to prove not only that his municipal thumb is large enough to cover all the branches and departments of the city government, but he absolutely asserts the necessity of the thing, and coolly tells the New Yorkers until he has everything in his own way, that city will never approximate to that virtue and dignity which belongs to the first city of the Western World. We wish the New Yorkers joy under his dictation. If he does not ultimately place himself at the head of the famous seventh regiment and make his executive ability felt, it will be a wonder.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN.—The ex-Chief Justice of Iowa, the Hon. CHAS. MASON, who, as Commissioner of Patents, has made himself so popular with the inventors of the country, has become connected with the publication and management of the Scientific American, in New York city.

FRIGHTFUL RESULT OF INTEMPERANCE.—On Tuesday last, an Italian named FLORIN CASTELLA, laboring under the effects of delirium tremens, jumped from the second story of his house, and fell across the iron, pickets on the area railing, impaling himself and causing instant death.

ENTERTAINING AND REFINING.—The St. Louis News says that a few days ago over four hundred people assembled to see a couple of dogs fight, which entertaining sport was witnessed with enthusiastic demonstrations of joy.

PERSONAL.—Mr. PERKINS has ceased his connection with the Baraboo Republic; henceforth that paper will be conducted by ANSEL N. KELLOGG, one of the original proprietors, and a competent man every way.

ONE MAN was killed, and another dangerously wounded, in Cincinnati, on Wednesday last, by the breaking of a wire cable in a store house, which precipitated them eighty feet into a cellar.

THE GAS in the street pipes at Detroit was frozen—so says the Advertiser—last Tuesday, three feet and a half below the surface of the ground.

PERSONAL.—It is said FRANK HYDE is "courting the good graces of the Green Lake Democrat." His proper place is inside the ranks. Let him "fall in."

Senator Seward.

A correspondent of The Washington States, who has recently returned from Europe, sends to it the following communication. A Southern American paper, which republishes the article, inquires if the Democracy intend to make Mr. SEWARD the candidate of the Charleston Convention?

"And now let me say a word in behalf of this most notorious and much-abused man. In Washington, where he has resided almost half the time for the last fifteen or twenty years, he is known as a very quiet, amiable, hospitable gentleman, and not at all like the horrible portrait given of him the other day in the House, in which he was represented as a sort of ghostly demon, with hell-fire flashing in his eyes! Politically, I have always opposed him, but, socially and personally, have always liked him. He is a man of great natural ability, and of extraordinary industry. Politics has been the study of his life, and statesmanship the great object of his ambition. * * * * * During an absence of eight months, Mr. Seward has visited England, all the leading capitals of the continent, and penetrated into Egypt. No American citizen ever visited Europe, unofficially, who has received greater attentions than Governor Seward. Kings and Queens and Emperors, believing him to be the inevitable successor to the President's Chair, invited him to their tables, and bestowed on him all the consideration due to the 'their presumptive.' Those facts I happen to know, as I had the pleasure of meeting Gov. Seward in Europe, and generally found him engaged 'ten deep' to dine with the 'nobles and rulers of the land.' No ex-President abroad ever received half as much attention as he. It is the rising, not the setting sun, that claims the homage of the world."

The Chatfield (Minn.) Republican has the following.

"Three years ago, we expressed our preference for Wm. H. Seward as the nominee of the Republican party in 1860, for the Presidency. We have not yet changed our mind in this matter. The nearer the great conflict approaches, the stronger grows our belief that Wm. H. Seward should be the Republican standard-bearer in 1860. We are not intimidated by the Democratic howl of 'irrepressible conflict.' Never was a greater truth uttered than that such a conflict exists, and will go on until America is all Slave or all Free. None but fools can be made to believe that Wm. H. Seward, as President, would do aught unconstitutional in this conflict. None but fools, we say, and no matter who the Republican candidate for the Presidency may be, this class will vote against him. We like, furthermore, the motto, 'irrepressible conflict.' It is just what we mean in plain English! War to the knife, in every constitutional manner, upon Human Slavery. For one we like the motto, 'irrepressible conflict,' and more, we like the man, Wm. H. Seward, who gave it to the party in his Rochester speech. We cordially endorse both, and hope as much from the National Republican Convention next spring."

MINNE-HA-HA FALLS IN WINTER.—Did you ever see Minne-ha-ha in winter? If not, you have missed one hour of rare enjoyment. If as Jefferson said, the passage of the Shenandoah through the Blue Ridge, is worth a voyage across the Atlantic, surely it is worth an hour's drive, or a few hours' walk, to view the prettiest cascade in America. The creek which forms the fall cannot be seen until you are close upon its brink, then the most beautiful sight that "fairies ever conceived or maiden dreamed," is before your admiring eyes. The brook comes leaping and dancing along, seemingly unconscious of the fall directly in its path, and over it leaps in a laughing, careless, fleecy mass; then on again to mingle with the "Father of Waters" half a mile below. The ledge over which the water falls, forms underneath quite a cavern, so that in summer you may pass into it behind the fall. The sides of the ravine below the fall are steep, and are now entirely sheeted with ice from the spray of the waterfall.

By dint of sliding, creeping, and rolling, the bottom is reached, where you behold a "Crystal Palace," more rare and unique than human mind ever devised. The ice has formed behind the fall in stupendous columns and slender stalactites reaching from top to bottom, shutting from view the passage behind the fall, except in one small place, through which you may manage to squeeze in, and then the eye falls upon a most beautiful grotto. Words fail to describe its icy, frosty, purity and fantastic splendor. There hang from the solid rock far above your head those crystal pearly columns, large and regular, reaching to the bottom of the fall, and interwoven with icicles of all sizes and shapes. Then, there were such lovely apartments, all built of icy pendants; one could wish to be married, here di, and be buried there—[in a large, French horn with the variations.] Never did nature in her wildest freaks produce aught so exquisitely beautiful as Minne-ha-ha, in winter.

"When winter's mantled snow
Lay by its side,
When bright flowers ceased to grow
Along its tide;
Amid the frost-harps, builded
By the ice king,
Each silver string,
With golden sunlight gilded,
It still did sing—
Minne-ha-ha."

—St. Paul Minnesotian, Jan 4.

SALE OF PEWS IN PLYMOUTH CHURCH.—The regular annual sale of pews in Plymouth Church (the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher's) took place in the church last evening, not less than 2,000 persons being present.

At 7 1-2 o'clock the Rev. Mr. Beecher made a few observations introductory to the business of the evening, and introduced Mr. Pillsbury as the auctioneer, with whom the congregation would have to deal for several hours. The first choice of a pew was purchased by Mr. H. C. Bowen at a premium of $160. From this point the bidding was spirited, and was conducted with apparent great good nature. The work went on well with the help of a goodly number of ladies, who gave a cheerful aspect to the congregation, and encouragement to the auctioneer.—By half-past nine o'clock, all the best chances were taken up, and the house began to thin out, and continued to dwindle down till all the pews and a number of the chairs in the aisles had been sold.

The highest premium paid for a pew was $160, and the lowest 25 cents. Every pew brought a premium but one.

The assessed value of the pews was set down at $12,050, being the same as last year. To this was added for premiums upon pews the sum of $16,698 25, the assessed value of the chairs $768, with premiums thereon $21 25, thus resulting in the net sum of $29,429 50, being about 40 per cent. increase upon the amount realized last year. There are 29 chairs not yet sold, the assessed value of which amounts to $157.—N. Y. Trib., Jan. 4.

THE RIVER AT ST. LOUIS.—The river the past twenty-four or thirty-six hours has been indulging in all sorts of freaks. Yesterday morning it commenced rising, and rose eight inches; by evening it was falling, and in the course of the night got back to its old level. This morning it has commenced rising again and during the forenoon continued swelling at the rate of about three-quarters of an inch per hour—what's next in the programme we know not. These changes are probably produced by the breaking away of gorges at some point above. There is still comparatively little ice in the stream here. The ferry-boats make their trips without the least trouble, and navigation between here and Alton is continued with no difficulty. One boat, the Northerner, is running making daily trips.—She had not arrived this morning when we left the Levee.

The steamers in our Landing have dropped away one by one until there are but few remaining.—St. Louis News, 5th.

THE ARKANSAS EXILES.—The colored persons driven from Arkansas by the anti-free negro law of that State, reached our city yesterday by the cars, the Hickman being detained in the ice. Upon their arrival they were waited upon by a committee of their people, who through the Chairman, Peter H. Clark, assured them that they were welcome to Ohio, and told them that by sobriety, industry, and exemplary habits, they would win friends and a support. They are forty in number, mostly women and children.—The husbands of most of the women are slaves, and of course were left behind. They say that many of their people have gone to Kansas.—Cin. Commercial.

SEVERAL Winnebago Indians came to the house of Paul Grignon, in this village, at midnight, on Friday last, and drove him out. There appears to have been some old quarrel between them. The citizens of Buffalo County have called a meeting to protect themselves from the Indians, and if outrages of this kind are to be perpetrated, it may be well for us to do likewise.—Trempeleau Representative.

PETRIFYING.—They must be quite chilly in some parts of Iowa. The papers state that last week the mercury stood at 29° below zero.

Now is the time to subscribe to the WEEKLY SENTINEL. The new volume commences on the twenty-third. In it will be commenced an original tale of great interest. We would call the attention of our readers to the CASH PREMIUMS and the liberal clubbing rates. The increased circulation of the WEEKLY SENTINEL is such as to warrant the proprietors in outlaying upon it that amount of expense which will make it the BANNER paper of the Northwest.

THERE IS A FRIEND OF OURS, who is not a Good Templar—we mention this fact incidentally, not that it is of any consequence—who is given to strange eccentricities. He goes out at night and sings about not going home till morning, and invariably reaches his domestic door step in such an ineffably happy mood that he has to sing a refrain to Jupiter and chaunt a monody, fragrant with fourth-proof incense, to the brassy moon."

This gentleman is not the one who went so far into the shades of nocturnal eccentricity as to lie down one January night and go to sleep, with his stocking feet resting upon a rail fence, under the persuasion that the moon would keep them warm till morning, but our friend the other night, as he reached his front door and straightened himself for an outburst of invectives at the oblivious key-hole, which dodged and baffled his night-key like an orifice that might be fond of liquor and occasionally got tight—happened to turn, and saw the aforementioned Jupiter, which is set down in the Almanacs as the morning star, wriggling and squirming on the sharp point of the Cathedral spire. He rubbed his eyes; it was no delusion, there was the star impaled, and our friend, with a sort of curious horror, winked and strained his eyes until the spire and Jupiter sticking on the end of it seemed to waltz off in a kind of insane limp and vanish in the dim distance.

The next sensation experienced by the unfortunate spectator of the catastrophe was, anything but pleasant. Some one had him by the collar and a voice not unlike a fury in gunelliuence, and something like a policeman's in the choice of words, said:—

"See here old feller, if you want to sleep out doors such a night as this why don't you get in a warmer place?"

"Come—that's it! Now where do you live?"

Our friend rubbed her eyes—"you didn't see that star that got fast?"—

"No, I didn't see no star what got fast nor nothin'. I guess you ain't well, eh?"

"No. The fact is, I feel an interest in that bright—er, partic—(hic)—ular (hic) star, and"—

"Well, I'll just take you up to the Hospital and Doctor Fut 'ill fix yer. I'll tell you what it is, old man, I guess you have been bit, and got the hydrophobia; ain't you afraid of cold water for the last day or so, eh? Come along!"

Since that night our friend has promised to "line" the Dashaways, on condition that none will mention the star.

FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE MILWAUKEE LIGHT GUARD.—The Milwaukee Light Guard, Capt. J. O. STAREWEATHER, celebrate their fifth anniversary to-morrow, by a street parade in the morning, and a ball at the Newhall House in the evening. The annual parties of the Light Guard have all been well attended and very greatly enjoyed, and the one to-morrow night bids fair to surpass its predecessors in attractiveness and success. The elegant parlors and drawing-rooms of the Newhall House will be thrown open to the guests of the M. L. G. during the evening.—The spacious dining hall, appropriately decorated for the occasion, will be used as the ball room. The supper will be got up under the immediate direction of the incomparable chef de cuisine who presides over "the kitchen cabinet" of the Newhall. The music will be the best that the city affords. Carriages will be provided for all that need them, upon word being left with BUTLER & POST. In short, everything will be done to promote the comfort and enjoyment of the guests of the evening, and make the party an entire success. Tickets, which are $3.00 each, and include supper and carriages, may be had of the committee, or any member of the company. We hope that the members of the Light Guard will see to it that their ball to-morrow night is a benefit.

THE PROSPECT of a thaw brought folks out on Saturday, to improve the snow while it lasted, and the way the cutters flew was, to use an expressive phrase, not slow. BUTLER & POST, those enterprising and obliging men, were on hand with their elegant turn-outs, made more elegant by the contents. The slosh was strewn about considerably during the day, and no mistake.

SPECIAL ELECTION FOR COUNCILLOR.—Mr. HAYDEN having resigned his office of Councillor in the Eighth Ward, in consequence of his election to the Assembly, a special election to fill the vacancy so created will be held on Friday next, the 13th inst., between the hours of 9 and 5 o'clock.

REPORTED BY THE N. Y. ASSOCIATED PRESS, FOR THE DAILY SENTINEL.

Exciting Debate in the Maryland Legislature.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 7—4 P. M.

In the House of Delegates yesterday, Mr. Freame, introduced resolutions that John Sherman, or any other Black Republican should not be elected Speaker; and that, if any member from that State vote for him, or any such exceptional candidate, he should forfeit the respect and confidence of the people of that State.

An exciting debate ensued; in which the views of Henry W. Davis were discussed. He was defended by his friends, who declared him to be true to the South. The debate was progressing when the cars left.

Run over by the Cars.

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 7—8 P. M.

James Taylor and Edward Duffy, while returning from a pleasure ride to Elizabeth, were run over by the night train about three o'clock this morning, at the crossing of the railroad at South Broadsdale. Taylor was instantly killed. He was employed on Rudd's Express, and leaves a wife and two children. Duffy was injured, but not seriously. The horse was killed and the sleigh was demolished.

The Harper's Ferry Investigation—Judge Douglas' Health.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7—3 P. M.

The gentlemen who were taken prisoners at Harper's Ferry, by John Brown, are in this city, and it is understood they were examined to-day by the Senate Committee of inquiry.

The health of Judge Douglas is improving.

Arrival of the Northerner.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 7—3 P. M.

The steamer Northerner, from Oregon on the 10th ult., has arrived.

The American citizens of San Juan Island had held a meeting and resolved that that island belonged to the United States.

The Legislature of Washington Territory had organized, with H. W. Maxon as President of the Senate.

Later from California.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 6—3 P. M.

The Overland Mail, with dates to the 6th, reached Jefferson City to-day.

One hundred Indians were captured in Pitt River Region and had arrived in San Francisco en route for the Mendocino Reservation.

Col. Fremont had obtained possession of all the mines adjudged to him.

Murder and Suicide.

DICKERSON, N. Y., Jan. 7—9 P. M.

Henry Meacham shot his wife last night, in the presence of her father and mother, and afterwards cut her throat. He then shot himself through the head. Both are dead. Domestic trouble and infidelity said to be the cause.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7—8 P. M.

The Tribune mentions a report that a detachment of the 2d Knights of the Golden Circle left this city a few days since, for some port in Mexico, but with what design is not publicly known.

Sudden Death of a Catholic Bishop.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6.

Bishop Newman, of the Catholic Church, fell dead in the street yesterday afternoon, of disease of the heart.

Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7—9 P. M.

SENATE—Not in session.

HOUSE—Mr. Cobb asked that an article emanating from Massachusetts be read, wishing to know from the delegation from that State whether it was a forgery or not. It appeared first in the Barnstable Patriot. If it be genuine, he was glad, after searching, that he had been able to find in Massachusetts a single jewel, which could be shown to the country. The proceedings of the Union meeting in Barnstable were then read, declaring the duty of obedience to the Constitution, as the supreme law of the land, condemning Brown and his sympathisers of moral or actual treason, &c.

Mr. Elliot asked that the call for the meeting be read.

Mr. Cobb said in was not in the paper. He believed that many abolitionists were simply for the Union. Let the motto be "The Constitution and the rights of all sections," and let them inscribe on their banners "ecce signincvit," then under that sign we'll conquer.

Mr. Elliot remarked that Mr. Cobb did not say anything new to Massachusetts, or to the citizens of that State. There were not more constitutional or conservative constituencies anywhere from the landing of the Pilgrims till now. There was never a body of men who so assuredly, promptly or directly stood by the laws and Constitution, and were ever more right than those same men who met together at Boston immediately the other day to proclaim their allegiance to the Union and laws. The men who dissented from the spirit of these resolutions are the men who would be found standing side by side with the secessionists and disunionists of the South.—They were not the Republicans nor order-loving Democrats, but another class of men altogether. The time is not far distant when the administration will slip from the hands who hold it, and pass to other and stronger hands, and then we hope we will find our Union loving friends shaking hands with the new party that will have the power.

After further debate the House proceeded to ballot for Speaker, with the following result:—Whole number of votes, 211; necessary to a choice, 106; Sherman, 103; Hamilton, 89; Gilmer, 14; scattering, 6.

ANOTHER CASE OF PROSCRIPTION.—Dr. Case, until recently President of an Alabama College, arrived at the Gibson House yesterday with his lady, en route for New York. having been compelled to leave the South by the present proscriptive policy of "the fellowship" towards Northern men. Dr. Case had a flourishing institution just organized at Salem, Ala., for female education, with teachers engaged for the year, all of whom are thus thrown out of employment, while he has been compelled to abandon his enterprise at much sacrifice.

In this instance there was no pretence made of any "abolitionism," nor had Dr. Case expressed any opinion unfavorable to the peculiar institution. Indeed, when he went South, early last fall, his opinions were rather favorable to slavery than otherwise. But the excitement growing out of the Harper's Ferry affair, is not to be appeased without victims of some sort, and Dr. Case was warned to leave, simply and solely because he is a Northern man.

Thus the South persists in "going it blind" for Slavery, regardless alike of her own true interests and the rights of white men. We hear almost daily of teachers expelled for no offence, and acts of violence an outrage perpetrated upon Northerners without provocation. How blind must the South be, to say nothing of the justice of the case, to pursue a course which can only result to her own disadvantage. For every exile she makes by her proscription, she creates at least a score of active and determined adherents to the cause proscribed.—Cincinnati Com., Jan. 6.

HAIL TO OUR CHIEF.—Senator Seward returned from Europe in the Arago the other day, and was met with a succession of ovations from both political friends and opponents which was truly gratifying. The threats and blusterings of the South, that they will hang Seward for treason, and dissolve the Union if he is elected President, instead of weakening him with his friends, has made him the hope of a large portion of the liberal democracy. He is felt to be the man of the age—the best embodiment of the principles of that body in the success of which lies the hope of the perpetuity and material advancement of our nation. Already is there pretty free expression of the determination among democrats in this section, that as opposed to man on the platform now promulgated by Buchanan, Gwin, Vallandighan, O'Connor, and other Becompromisites, they will support Seward.—Berlin Courant.

FREIGHT MOVING.—We noticed yesterday that very large quantities of produce are coming forward by the Detroit & Milwaukee and Michigan Central Railroads. The docks of the Companies are covered with flour, beef, dressed hogs, leather, &c., and each train that arrives is heavily laden. The ferry boats are taking over considerable of the produce, to go east by the Great Western road, and in return bring goods for the west.—Det. Adv.

MONDAY MORNING, JAN. 9, 1860.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

A Republican State Convention will be held at the Capitol, in Madison, on Wednesday, the 29th day of February, 1860, at 12 o'clock M., to choose four delegates from the State at large, and two from each Congressional District, to represent the State of Wisconsin in the Republican National Convention to be held at Chicago on the 16th of next June, to nominate two candidates for presidential electors for the State at large; to adopt such action as may be deemed advisable in view of the approaching election of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the State; and for the transaction of such other business as may be thought calculated to advance the interests of the party and promote the success of its principles.

Each Assembly District of the State will be entitled to two delegates in such Convention, except where a district includes more than one County, when each county will be entitled to two delegates.

The committee would respectfully suggest that Assembly District Conventions to elect delegates to the State Convention be held as early as Saturday, the 25th day of February.

Municipal Bonds for Railroads.

We think that every right-minded citizen of Wisconsin must approve and endorse the unanimous decision of the Supreme Court of this State, affirming the constitutionality of County, City and Town bonds, issued in aid of the different Railroad enterprises, which have been undertaken within our borders during the last few years. These bonds, it must be remembered, were issued in pursuance of acts of the Legislature, sanctioned by the direct popular vote of the several municipalities. That in many instances the loan of corporation credit was ill-advised, is doubtless true; and yet it cannot be questioned that the State in general has been largely the gainer by the policy. Without this municipal aid, our Railroads, in all probability, could not have been completed, and some of them not even commenced. The construction of these thoroughfares has added very largely to the valuation of real estate in Wisconsin, and in various ways contributed to the development of its resources, the promotion of its business and social interests, and the increase of its wealth and population. Having thus benefitted by the use of foreign capital, advanced upon the pledge of our municipal credit, we could not avoid the recognition of this just debt without incurring the stigma of repudiation. This was not to be thought of, and therefore it is that we rejoice in the decision of our Supreme Court, setting the question at rest, and heartily commend it to the approving judgment of the people.

The Delay in Organizing the House.

The Republicans are wholly to blame for the delay in organizing the House of Representatives. Without a majority of the House, and therefore without the power to elect a Speaker, they nevertheless nominated one of the most ultra men in their ranks, and insisted upon his election, which could only be effected by aid from somebody outside of the Republican party. If they had not nominated at all, or had withdrawn Mr. Sherman's name, as the Democrats did Mr. Boocock's, after it became apparent that he was not acceptable to a majority of the House, an organization would have been effected long ago. But they have attempted to force the House to accept Mr. Sherman, against the clear and unmistakable wishes of the majority, and thus far have failed, as we think they ought to.—News, of Saturday.

This pettifogging plea of the News, in behalf of the factious Democratic minority in the House of Representatives, will deceive no one. But for the filibustering of that minority, the House would have been organized a month ago. It is well known that a decided majority are in favor of adopting the plurality rule, which would secure an organization at once. But the Democrats, knowing that Mr. SHERMAN's election as Speaker would be the immediate result of adopting this rule, refuse to allow the question to be taken. Mr. SHERMAN is an unexceptionable candidate for the Speakership; able, honest, experienced and courteous in his address. He is the choice of a large plurality of the Members and lacks but three votes of a majority of the whole House. No other candidate that has been put in nomination has come within twenty votes of an election. Indeed, the Democrats no longer pretend to concentrate their strength upon any one man, but scatter their votes among a dozen, or more. The Republicans continue to vote steadily and unitedly for Mr. SHERMAN. We trust that they will do so to the end, and let the factious and disorganizing minority persist, if they choose, in the course they have marked out. The People will hold them to a strict accountability for it.

Amenities of Politics.

The News of Saturday, true to its partisan instincts, makes Senator DOOLITTLE and Mr. POTTER, the Representative from this District, the subjects of sundry ill-mannered remarks. Mr. DOOLITTLE is coarsely assailed as a "liar," and Mr. POTTER as "in brainless Representative." Neither of these gentlemen can suffer, here or elsewhere, from such vulgar epithets. The News exhausted its quiver of personalities against Mr. POTTER during the last Congressional canvass in this State; and the result was that he was re-elected by an overwhelming majority. So as to Senator DOOLITTLE; the splenetic attacks of the News will only have the effect of directing attention to his speech, which was a manly vindication of the Republican party, and a scathing rebuke of Sham Democracy. No doubt both gentlemen are, as they should be, under obligations to the News, for making them the objects of its censure, rather than its praise.

LAW FOR THE LADIES.—The fact that the ladies of Turkey have of late indulged themselves in wearing very thin veils and dresses, which allow their persons to be seen too much, has elicited the imperial edict, of which the following are the essential features:

Henceforth, all women, whoever they may be, on leaving their houses, must wear thick veils which completely cover their features, and be clad in dresses of cloth or other suitable material, without embroidery, trimmings or external ornaments of any kind. They must not show themselves out of doors simply in stockings and slippers, but must wear half-boots in yellow morocco leather, or some other suitable and decent covering for the feet. When they go out to make purchases, they are strictly prohibited from entering shops, but must stop on the outside to be served, and must not wait longer than is absolutely necessary. When they are on the public promenades they must confine themselves to the part reserved for females. Any woman who shall be guilty of acts against the law will be severely punished. No family shall keep equipages beyond their means, and the drivers must be most carefully selected.

DEPARTURE OF THE "BENICIA BOY."—Mr. HEENAN, says the New York Times, equally well known as the "Benicia Boy," not desiring to be trammeled by any engagements to undergo a legal trial at Buffalo during the coming Spring, left on Saturday by the steamship Washington for England, where he hopes to win the championship from SAYERS, the noted pugilist. Hardly had the steamship left the pier, when two policemen from Buffalo came down, just too late to prevent the departure of the gentleman whom they were pursuing. A large number of Mr. HEENAN's friends accompanied him to the steamer, and wished him success in his mission.

DEATH AT THE EXACT AGE OF ONE HUNDRED YEARS.—A person named Roger Largee has recently died at Paris, at the age of one hundred precisely, day for day, and even hour for hour. It was at one o'clock in the afternoon of the 10th of December, 1759, that he was born, and at one o'clock in the afternoon of the 10th of December, 1859, that he died. He was a very remarkable personage, having excelled as painter, engraver, poet and musician; and yet he was absolutely unknown to the public, because he would never consent to exhibit or publish any of his productions.

ARRIVAL OF GOV. SEWARD FROM HIS EUROPEAN TOUR.

His Reception in Auburn—Welcomed by 10,000 Citizens—Speeches at the Depot—National Salutes—Music, Bells, Banners, Arches, &c.

From the Auburn Journal, 31st.

THE DEMONSTRATION IN AUBURN.

Never did a more beautiful winter day dawn upon Auburn than Friday, the 30th inst. The snow which had fallen during the night, sparkled in the trees like the clearest diamonds, and the clear sun shone forth, unrestrained by a cloud. Before noon the streets began to be thronged with the multitudes pouring in from the surrounding towns. Large sleigh loads from the villages about, drawn by four horses, came rushing into the city to participate in welcoming the distinguished and favorite citizen, William H. Seward. As early as 2 o'clock P. M., the crowd commenced wending its way to the depot.—On the arrival of the train at the Junction, seven miles east of this city, a telegram to that effect was received, upon which the Artillery, under command of a corps of the 49th Regiment, stationed near the east end of the depot, "volleyed and thundered." This was the signal agreed upon for the assembling of our citizens.

SCENE AT THE DEPOT.

The depot was densely packed with as enthusiastic a crowd as could be found on the "footstool." Every available space in the spacious depot was occupied by the people. On the platform, on the west side of the depot, were stationed the boys representing the District Schools of the city, each boy bearing a small banner in his hand, with the inscriptions:—

Welcome to Senator Seward.
God bless the Friend of our Schools.

And other appropriate devices. Directly over their heads was suspended a large banner, with the glowing words:—

The Public Schools
to the Distinguished Friend of Education.
His is the praise who consults his own clear heart, and boldly dares to be, not to be thought, an honest man.

In the centre of the depot was arranged the platform upon which were the speaker, Michael S. Meyers, Esq., and his Honor, Mayor Briggs, waiting to receive the "Coming Man." Around this platform thousands gathered and crowded to hear the speeches. Directly in front of the Speakers' stand, the gallant-hearted and noble and ever-to-be-remembered "Auburn Guards," renewing their size and age and appearance with their increasing weight of years, and the gallant and "true blues," the Shields, took up their position, under the command of Col. W. H. Carpenter.

ARRIVAL OF THE TRAIN.

The moment the train came in sight the bells of the city sounded forth their hearty and deep toned welcome; the cannons were loaded with heavier charges and spoke in "volumn tones." With much caution the train wended its way through the gathered multitudes, and on its arrival in the depot the appearance upon the platform of the car of Senator Seward was greeted by the band with the ever sweet "Home, Sweet Home," and by the people with tremendous storms of applause that fairly shook the ceilings of the depot. Cheer after cheer were given, and with a will and an enthusiasm we have never before heard on any occasion. Such a salute was worth living an age to hear.

After a little delay, the distinguished citizen reached the platform, where he was cordially shaken by the hand by the Speaker, M. S. Myers, and Mayor Briggs. Here the cheering was again and again renewed, subsiding for an amount and then gaining strength by a momentary rest, thundered forth again and continued until the depot was cleared of the train in which Senator Seward arrived. When after repeated efforts the enthusiasm was reduced to "hearing point," Senator Seward was welcomed by Michael S. Myers, Esq., in the following eloquent and appropriate address:

GOVERNOR SEWARD:—You see around you an assemblage of our citizens called together by the announcement of your return home.

Honored by them as their organ of communication with you, it is my duty, as well as my privilege, to congratulate you upon your safe return from the Old World, and in their behalf to assure you of a hearty welcome!

You will recognize around you friends and neighbors, with many of whom, during your long residence among them, you have been upon terms of kind and friendly intercourse, and who avail themselves of this occasion to express to you their regard for you as a citizen, and their interest in your welfare.

We know, sir, that you will appreciate this gathering. It would be affectation in us to suppose for a moment that you would mistake its object or its meaning. It is, indeed, unnecessary that a word should be said to you by any one to tell you its meaning and interpretation. It speaks for itself in its individual and collective character.

Sir, am I not addressing a stranger among us. I need not say to you that here as elsewhere, upon all the principal questions of the day, in which it has been your fortune to take a prominent part, public opinion is divided; that we have our full share of political parties, and of fearless advocates of the principles they severally avow. We at times roll high upon the waves of political strife, but the storm once over, and a full expression of individual opinions and preferences having been completed, it is pleasant to know what this occasion so fully exemplifies, that the comities of social life return to their accustomed course, and friend, neighbor and citizen move on in their kindly intercourse, fulfilling those duties in their several spheres that give the chiefest charm to civilized communities.

If, sir, in the share you have taken in public life, in the eminent stations which you have been called upon to fill, you have established a name and a reputation as a statesman that should satisfy a high and laudable ambition—if the confidence of the people of your native State has been bestowed upon you, in places of power and high trust, freely and liberally, in proof of their estimate of your talent, integrity and fidelity—if this is the history of your life, so far, whatever the future may unfold and bring forth, the past must furnish you with pleasant and grateful reflections.

But, sir, filled and stored as your mind and memory may be with these matters, you will not wholly dwell upon them now. Tracing the features of many in this assembly, you will recognize some, although few in number, who nearly forty years ago, were among your youthful friends. In others, you will readily recognize the descendants of those still living, and of others who have passed away and are known no more in their places upon earth.

Memory, faithful to her trust, will revert, in a scene like this, to your own early life.—You will recall, with a sentiment of affection, so to express myself, Auburn as it then was—the people who composed it—the society with whom, in early manhood, you cast your lot—the place where your nearest and dearest earthly ties were formed—where domestic comforts, clustering around your hearth, have been enjoyed, and where cares, trials and afflictions have been met and borne.

These thoughts and reflections would be the legitimate fruit of a meeting like the present one; and am I wrong in speaking of them? Or am I, in legal parlance, traveling out of the record? I trust not.

Besides, sir, as I have before remarked, you are no stranger among us. I cannot introduce you in set and formal terms to a people to whom you are well known, and with whom your name is as familiar as household words.

The citizens of Auburn had resolved upon this demonstration in honor of yourself, for reasons satisfactory to them, well assured that it would be acceptable to you. What they had determined upon they have endeavored to consummate. It will, I know, be received as it is offered, as a testimonial of their friendship, confidence and good-will; of their regard for one who has for so long a time been closely identified, and has so cheerfully and efficiently co-operated with them in advancing the interests of our city in all its enterprises, and whom they now greet as a member of their family, returned after a long absence to his and their home!

Sir, they will make your welcome known to you; and I now leave you with them.

The applause with which the speech was received again became general, and the populace gave vent to their enthusiasm. When comparative silence was obtained, Senator Seward responded to the address as follows:

Mr. Mayor, Mr. Myers, Friends, Neighbors and Fellow-Citizens:

It is true, as you have reminded me, that I have reached another stage in a journey that has occupied eight months of time and covered ten thousand miles of space—the last stage—a stage beyond which I can go no further. Although in this journey I have traversed no small portions of four continents Europe, Africa, Asia and America—it is not until now, that I have found the place which, above all others, I admire the most and love the best. This place, this very spot on which you stand, and I stand among you, is indeed the one point on the globe, which, wherever else I may be, draws me back by an irresistible spell; the place where, when I rest, I must dwell—the only place where I can be content to live, and content, when life's fitful fever shall be over, to die.

It is the spot cherished in my affections above and beyond all others—above and beyond the spot where I was born—above and beyond the scenes in which I was educated—adorned and marked as those localities of my early life are, by mountain and river, by blue skies and genial climes—it is a spot cherished by me above and beyond the scenes of any severe labor—of any arduous achievement—and, if I may use the expression without offense, of any personal successes. I love it more than the Capital of my native State, although in that Capital I have borne the baton of civil authority, confided to me by three millions of a free, brave and enlightened people. I love it more than even the Senate chamber of the great confederate Republic of which we are all citizens—although in that Senate chamber I am authorized, with one other representative, to pronounce the will of the leading member of that confederacy. I should not despair of vindicating this preference by comparing the natural advantages, and the social development of the valley of the Owasco, with those of any other place you or I have ever known. Lakes, meadows, water-falls, fields, forests are here, which are nowhere surpassed; and comfort, ease, intelligence, enterprise and morals, that may justly challenge comparison in any part of the globe.

But I will be candid, and confess that my partiality stands upon a simpler and more natural logic. I prefer this place because it is my place. You may as well be candid, also, and confess that you like it best because it is your place. It is true, my excellent friends, that persons abroad who do not know this attractive spot so familiarly as we do, criticise it sometimes with severity. They point to those dark, massive prison walls, which are just before me, and tell us that they mar the beauty and detract from the graces of our city. But you and I never see those walls, or, if we do, they appear to us only as the boundaries of a field of active labor, productive industry, and benevolent instruction. So, sometimes these distant critics are pleased to say that they think that I, who now stand before you, am not an object worthy of any such consideration as you are now bestowing on me, and you, I am sorry to say, do not seem to be much affected by that objection. [Applause.]

I prefer this place because it is the only one where I am left free to act in an individual and not in a representative and public character. Whatever I may be elsewhere, here I am never either a magistrate or a legislator, but simply a citizen—a man—your equal and your like—nothing more, nor less, nor different.

Our relations to each other are the simple ones of domestic, private life. Among you I see those who are my physicians, my priests, my counsellors and my clients, my kinsmen, not to speak of my children—those who are debtors to me (I am sorry they are so few) and my creditors (alas! that they are so many.) [Laughter.] But we are all, I trust, honest and just debtors, liberal and tolerant creditors. We are all tolerant, though not unconsciencious as christians. We all worship where we please, and as we please, and do not quarrel with each other about our respective preferences. We all speak for such principles, and vote for such candidates as we like, and watch each other pretty closely on election days. But when the votes are cast and the result announced we go away about our business, forgetting the disputes of the canvass. In short, we are free and easy in our social intercourse, quite apt to think well of all the statesmen of the country of every party, and if any body abroad wishes to secure the good opinions of any of us, his best way is to speak as well and judge as kindly as he can of all of us.

Sir, (to Mr. Myers,) you have kindly recalled what I am sure I should not altogether have forgotten, that thirty-seven years ago this day, after emigrating by a long stage coach journey of four days duration from my native region, I opened my law office, at the age of 21 years, in a humble building, yet standing, but not now as then, standing alone on South street, and sat down without acquaintances of any character, to wait there for my first client and my first friend.

Many of those who were then in active life have since gone down to honored graves.—Peace be to their ashes and honor and affection to their memories! But there are yet survivors enough, and they too are yet hale and vigorous men, whose presence reminds me of that early and to me important period. You, sir, in the County Clerk's Office, filed my first declaration and placed the seal of the people upon my first writ of capias ad respondendum. Here before me stands Dudley Everts, and here also, doubtless, would stand Charles Pomroy, the Postmaster, (if he were not officially engaged) two of the warrant subalterns of my artillery company.—The voice that so often stuns my ears and interrupts my speech comes, doubtlessly, from the brass six-pounder which I so long ago procured from the State Arsenal at Albany, and with which my then Lieutenant Colonel Lyman Himman used to fire a feu de joie over my first defeat as a political candidate for civil office.

Those, my friends, were the good old days when many of you were yet unborn, and those who marched and countermarched with me as soldiers from Weedsport to Scipio Centre, were as young as you now are. But alas! my friends, time has brought many innovations. Then we might say what we pleased and do what we pleased to each other, and if we were satisfied that was the end of the matter. But now there is the press—(pointing to the reporters)—and the telegraph—(pointing to the wires)—and the Rail Road with Martin Galvin and his mail bags, (pointing to the mail agent,) and there is nothing that an honest, good-natured man can say or do here in this happy valley of the Owasco, to-day, that he may not look to find in print in the Metropolitan press to-morrow. You will excuse me, therefore, for saying that innocent and gratifying as these local and personal reminiscences are to ourselves, they may possibly draw down upon us some captious criticisms, if continued too far.

And now, fellow-citizens please to consider that I have been standing already half an hour on this platform, in the north end of our city while a matronly lady dwelling in South street has been expecting me to pay her a visit, at least of ceremony, which has already been due eight months.

Gov. Seward closed his remarks amid the deafening applause of thousands who were in attendance.

During the delivery of the speech by Mr. Myers and his reply, Senator Seward was evidently deeply affected by the spontaneous and unmistakable sentiment of affection and esteem manifested.

When the speeches were concluded, a path was made through the crowd and Mr. Seward was escorted to his sleigh.

PROCESSION.

The procession was without much order, for such was the desire to get a "good look" at the long absent friend, that the people could not be restrained to a formal procession but gathered as near the sleigh as possible.

The Auburn Guards and Shield Guards, with Col. Carpenter's staff, led by the Cornet Band, formed the escort. Next came the barouche, in which Mr. Seward, accompanied by M. S. Myers, Esq., His Honor Mayor Briggs, Gen. John H. Chedell, Hon. C. Morgan, and B. B. Snow, Esq., members of the committee. The school boys with their flags of various devices, immediately surrounded the Senator. Next came the citizens by the thousands, without much order, but with an exhilarating enthusiasm that "mocked forms."

SCENES ALONG THE LINE OF MARCH.

After forming, the procession immediately proceeded up State street. The first that met the eye of the returned citizen was a large and elegantly trimmed "triumphal arch," spanning State street, near the center of the bridge. The arch was decorated and tastefully festooned with evergreens. On the north side were the words in evergreens, "WELCOME HOME," and on the reverse side, the name of "SEWARD."

The procession passed under the arch amid cheers and the continuous booming of artillery.

Across State street, Kennedy & Nichols suspended a large blue banner, ornamented with a golden figure of Fame blowing a trumpet, from which issued the words:

Welcome Home Again.

"The first principles of our duty, as American citizens, is to preserve the integrity of the Union."—SEWARD.

At the head of State street, a large and splendid American flag was suspended, as a tribute from the Union office, with this inscription:

The Union of these States; the Ark of Liberty.

Fronting State, on Genesee street, appeared the Advertiser & Journal office, tastefully festooned with the tri-colored drapery, the American flags, and a large banner, trimmed and garlanded with evergreens, and inscribed:

Welcome! Defender of the Liberty of the Press!

On arriving at Genesee street the scene was one that will never be forgotten by the spectator. The windows along the street, the street itself, as far as the eye could reach, and the tops of the houses were thronged with people. The stores along Genesee St. were all tastefully decorated, the red white and blue streaming from every roof to the walk. As the Senator arrived on Genesee street, the cheering was taken up and handkerchiefs waved. Across Genesee street the Union Office hung another American flag, with these words inscribed on "all its ample folds:"—

Whatever else may happen, let us be spared from subjugation to an aristocracy of wealth, consisting of the bodies and souls of our countrymen.

The Young Men's Christian Association, in Chedell's building, ornamented the block with graceful festoons and tri-colors.

The Western Exchange, draped from roof to the ground with evergreens, in festoons, with the many pine trees upon the piazza, and hundreds of the fair sex, presenting a sight reminding the spectator of the fairy scenes in "Midsummer Night's Dream."

In front of the Auburn Bank, a banner was nailed to a tree, inscribed—

The Public Schools to the Distinguished Friend of Education.

"There's a warfare, where none but the morally brave,
Stand nobly and firmly, their country to save;
'Tis the war of opinion, where few can be found,
On the mountain of principle, guarding the ground!"

Goss and Williams' bookstore was handsomely decorated with evergreens, and a banner bearing the very appropriate motto, taken from a speech of Governor Seward, delivered in this city several years since:—

A thousand faces beam upon me with all that ancient kindness, which always cheered me, where, if unsustained, I should have fallen by the way, and the memory of which, in all my wanderings, never failed to bring me home at last.

Beneath this was a bust of Senator Seward, surrounded by evergreens.

ARCH ACROSS EXCHANGE STREET.

At the junction of Genesee and Exchange streets, another splendid arch spanned the street, fronting the north. This was prepared with exquisite taste; garland of evergreens and beautiful festoons were suspended from, and attached to the arch. On the front were the words—

Welcome to the defender of the Rights of Man, on the reverse the inscription—

See to it that Freedom and Equal Rights are inculcated at your firesides, in the Schools, and in the Churches.

Passing under the arch, the procession passed amid shouts of the gathered thousands, up Exchange street. On the Exchange building was the inscription—

The Constitution devotes the domain to the Union, to Justice and to Liberty; but there is a higher law than the Constitution, which devotes it to the same noble purposes—That "ye shall proclaim liberty throughout all the land, unto all the inhabitants all the land thereto."—Levit. xxv., 10.

The residence of H. Woodruff, Esq., was gracefully decorated with festoons and flags, and presented a fine appearance.

Gov. Seward finally arrived at his home. Over his gateway was suspended an arch with the inscription—

Behold, I am with thee and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest, and will bring thee again into this land.—The Clergy.

In passing through this gate, the Senator found the clergy of every denomination and sect in the city, gathered in line to welcome him in persons. Overcome by his feelings, the Governor passed rapidly through, shaking hands with the clergy on either side of the path, and gaining the steps to the house, turned and said, "God bless you all!" and immediately entered his house, alone, to greet the "respectable lady waiting for him." The crowd gave several more enthusiastic cheers, and gradually dispersed; the military returned to the Armory.

The occasion will be remembered by all who participated, as the most enthusiastic and spontaneous outburst of the people ever before witnessed in Auburn.

Every eye flashed with enthusiasm, and spoke the zeal of the spirit that animated it. Every face was brilliant with good nature and good cheer, and every heart seemed full of joy and satisfaction on the safe return of him whom the citizens thus delighted to honor.

And the honors thus bestowed reflected great credit upon the good taste, the sound judgment and the generous enthusiasm of the citizens of Auburn. We are sure that the display will long be remembered and appreciated by the recipient as a truthful evidence of the esteem and affection of his fellow citizens.

GOVERNOR VALVES,

FOR REGULATING THE

MOTION OF STEAM ENGINES,

WARRANTED THE MOST PERFECT Governor of Steam Power ever applied, and like all really great inventions, the most simple. Manufactured by Judson & Snow, at Rochester, N. Y., Selye Buildings, near R. R. Depot.

☞ Shop Rights for sale.

CAUTION TO INFRINGERS.

Patents issued in the United States, Nov. 5th, 1859. Reissued, Jan. 31st, 1854, and March 4th, 1856. Patented also in Great Britain and the Canadas, June 25th, 1851.

This improvement consists in making regulating valves to open with a rapidly increasing ratio of opening, by increasing the width of the opening made in the valve—or by accelerating the opening motion of the ordinary valves in use—or by combining increasing width of opening with accelerated valve motion. By patent valves and Governors are so arranged as to give the resistance to the piston's motion, (or retard of the engine,) the more rapidly the valve just the exact amount of aperture necessary to counteract that resistance; and from the aperture, by the simplest of mechanical means, the valve is kept constantly decreasing in its effective area, notwithstanding that the action of the governor is continually increasing in its effective force.

The combined action of valves combined with governors, as hereafore used. And as this effect can be produced by mechanisms, apparently, devices, (apparently not similar, but really identical with my improvement,) by which infringers have long and unjustly preyed upon me and my rights, I request all persons interested, to examine carefully all alleged improvements in valves or governors, before the purchase and application of this valuable principle, first ascertained and applied by me, is not involved in their arrangements—and thereby prevent my having to prosecute purchaser and improver both of which are at present much annoyed by their piratical depredations. JUNIUS JUDSON.

Special Notices.

Dyspepsia! Dyspepsia! Dyspepsia!!!
What is it? How Cured?

DYSPEPSIA IS OUR NATIONAL DISease—weak stomach, feeble digestion, distress after eating, costive habits, bilious condition. How many suffer with it and its attendant symptoms of low spirits, bad taste, coated tongue, obstupified head, and attacks of the headache! Yet how few know how to cure it! Generally, because the bowels are constipated, resort is had to cathartics, or laxatives. But such a condition was never cured by cathartics, whose only office is to weaken the digestion and impair the integrity of the entire assimilative system.

But HUMPHREYS' HOMŒOPATHIC DYSPEPSIA PILLS—a simple medicated sugar pill—have cured hundreds of the worst and most obstinate cases.—This is done simply by improving the tone and restoring the integrity of the digestive organs, from which result good appetite, regular habits, a clear head, and buoyant spirits. Such a medicine is a gem, and only requires to be known to be appreciated.

Price 25 cents per box, with directions Six boxes $1.

N. B.—A full set of HUMPHREYS' HOMŒOPATHIC SPECIFICS, with Book of Directions, and twenty remedies, in large vials, and morocco case, $6; do, in plain case, $4. Family case of fifteen boxes and book, $2.

These remedies, by the single box or case, are sent by mail or express, free of charge, to any address, on receipt of the price. Address,

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!

DON'T FAIL TO PROCURE MRS. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. It has no equal on earth. It greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing inflamation—will allay all pain, and is sure to regulate the bowels. Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and relief and health to your infants. Perfectly safe in all cases.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most experienced and skillful Female Physicians in New England, and has been used with never failing success in millions of cases.

We believe it is the best and surest remedy in the world, in all cases of Dysentery and Diarrhœa in children, whether it arises from teething or any other cause.

If life and health can be estimated by dollars and cents, it is worth its weight in gold.

Millions of bottles are sold every year in the United States. It is an old and well tried remedy.

PRICE ONLY 25 CENTS A BOTTLE.

☞ None genuine unless the fac simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world. Office No. 13 Cedar street, New York.

Sold in Milwaukee by John Rice. je18i190dw&tw1y

THE PUBLIC BLESSING WHICH IS now so universally admitted to exist in Moffat's Life Pills and Phœnix Bitters, is every day demonstrated by their astonishing efficacy in the cases which they are announced to cure. All the complaints of the stomach and bowels, weakness of the digestive organs and of the system generally, bilious and liver affections, night fevers, head aches, piles costiveness, consumption, rheumatism, scurvy, impurity of the blood, or blotched and sallow complexions, soon yield to their curative properties. A single trial invariably secures them the title of the best family medicine now before the public. For sale by the proprietor, W. B. MOFFAT, at his office, 235 Broadway, and by Store Keepers and Druggists generally. oct12i82d1wawly

UNDER THE VIOLETS.

BY OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES.

Her hands are cold; her face is white;
No more her pulses come and go;
Her eyes are shut to life and light;
Fold the white vesture, snow on snow,
And lay her where the violets grow.

But not beneath a graven stone,
To plead for fears with alien eyes;
A slender cross of wood alone
Shall say that here a maiden lies
In peace beneath the peaceful skies.

And grey old trees of largest limb;
To make the scorching sunlight dim
That drinks the greenness from the ground,
And drop their dead leaves on her mound.

When o'er their boughs the squirrels run,
And through their leaves the robins call,
And, ripening in the autumn sun,
The acorns and the chestnuts fall,
Doubt not that she will heed them all.

For her the morning choir shall sing,
Its matins from the branches high,
And every minstrel-voice of spring,
That thrills beneath the April sky,
Shall greet her with its earliest cry.

When turning round that dial track,
Eastward the lengthening shadows pass,
Her little mound, clad in black,
The cricket sliding through the grass,
Shall pipe for her an evening mass.

At last the rootlets of the trees,
Shall find the prison where she lies,
And bear the buried dust they seize
In leaves and blossoms to the skies,
So may the soul that warmed it rise!

If any born of kindlier blood,
Should ask, What maiden lies below?
Say only this: A tender bud,
That tried to blossom in the snow,
Lies withered where the violets blow.

A Distinguished French Novel Writer's Opinion of "John Brown."

From the London News, Dec. 9.

We have received from Guernsey, with a request that it should appear in our columns, the following eloquent appeal from the illustrious poet of France, who has the right to speak with all the authority of his own noble sorrows in the name of outraged freedom:

When one thinks of the United States of America, a majestic figure arises to the mind —Washington. Now, in that country of Washington see what is going on at this hour.

There are slaves in the Southern States, a fact which strikes with indignation, as the most monstrous of contradictions, the reasonable and freer conscience of the Northern States. These slaves, these negroes, a white man, a free man, one John Brown, wanted to deliver. Certainly if insurrection be ever a sacred duty it is against slavery. Brown wished to begin the good work by the deliverance of the slaves in Virginia.

Being a puritan, a religious and austere man, and full of the gospel, he cried aloud to these men—his brothers—the cry of emancipation—"Christ has set us free!" The slaves, enervated by slavery, made no response to his appeal; slavery makes deafness in the soul. Brown, finding himself abandoned, fought with a handful of heroic men; he struggled; he fell riddled with bullets; his two young sons, martyrs of a holy cause, fell at his side. This is what is called the Harper's Ferry affair.

John Brown, taken prisoner, has just been tried, with four of his fellows—Stephens, Coppic, Green and Copeland. What sort of trial it was, a word will tell.

Brown, stretched on a truckle bed, with six half-closed wounds—a gun-shot wound in the arm, one in his loins, two in the chest, two in the head—almost bereft of hearing, bleeding through his mattress, the spirits of his two dead sons attending him; his four fellow prisoners crawling around him; Stephens with four sabre wounds; "justice" in a hurry to have done with the case; an attorney, Hunter, demanding that it be dispatched with sharp speed; a judge, Parker, assenting; the defence cut short; scarcely any delay allowed; forged or garbled documents put in evidence; the witnesses for the prisoner shut out; the defence clogged; two guns loaded with grape brought into court, with an order to the jailers to shoot the prisoners in case of any attempt to rescue them; three sentences to death. I affirm, on my honor, that all this took place, not in Turkey, but in America.

Such things are not done with impunity in the face of the civilized world. The universal conscience of mankind is an ever-watchful eye. Let the Judges of Charlestown, and Hunter, and Parker, and the slaveholding jurors, and the whole population of Virginia, ponder it well, they are not alone in the world. At this moment the gaze of Europe is fixed on America.

John Brown, condemned to die, was to have been hanged on the second of December —this very day. The news has this instant reached us. In despite legerdemain, it is not until the 16th that he is to die. The interval is short. Has a cry of mercy time to make itself heard? No matter. It is a duty to lift up the voice.

Perhaps a second respite may be granted. America is a noble land. The sentiment of humanity is soon quickened among a free people. We hope that Brown may be saved. If it were otherwise, if Brown should die on the scaffold on the 16th of December, what a terrible calamity.

The executioner of Brown, let us avow it openly (for the day of the kings is past, and the day of the people dawns, and to the people we are bound frankly to speak the truth) —the executioner of Brown would be neither the attorney Hunter, nor the Judge Parker, nor the Governor Wise, nor the State of Virginia; it would be, we say it, and we think it with a shudder; the whole American republic.

The more one loves, the more one admires, the more one reveres the republic, the more heart-sick one feels at such a catastrophe. A single State ought not to have the power to dishonor all the rest, and in this case federal intervention is a clear right. Otherwise, by hesitating to interfere when it might prevent a crime, the Union becomes an accomplice.

No matter how intense may be the indignation of the generous Northern States, the Southern States associate them with the disgrace of this murder. All of us, whosoever he may be—for whom the Democratic cause is a common country—feel ourselves in a manner compromised and hurt. If the scaffold should be erected on the 16th of December, the incorruptible voice of history would thenceforth testify that the august confederation of the New World had added to all its ties of holy brotherhood, a brotherhood of blood, and the fasces of that splendid republic would be bound together with the running noose that hung from the gibbet of Brown.

This is a bond that kills.

When we reflect on what Brown the liberator, the champion of Christ, has striven to effect, and when we remember that he is about to die, slaughtered by the American Republic, the crime assumes the proportions of the nation, which commits it; and when we say to ourselves that this nation is a glory of the human race; that—like France, like England, like Germany—she is one of the organs of civilization; that she sometimes even outmarches Europe by the sublime audacity of her progress; that she is the queen of an entire world; and that she bears on her brow an immense light of freedom; we affirm that John Brown will not die, for we recoil, horror-struck, from the idea of so great a crime committed by so great a people.

In a political light the murder of Brown would be an irreparable fault. It would penetrate the Union with a secret fissure which would in the end tear it asunder. It is possible that the execution of Brown might consolidate slavery in Virginia, but it is certain that it would convulse the entire American Democracy. You preserve your shame, but you sacrifice your glory.

In a moral light, it seems to me that a portion of the light of humanity would be eclipsed, that even the idea of justice and injustice would be obscured on the day which should witness the assassination of Emancipation by Liberty.

As for myself, though I am but an atom, yet being, as I am, in common with all other men, inspired with the conscience of humanity, I kneel in tears before the great starry banner of the New World, and with clasped hands, and with profound and filial respect, I implore the illustrious American Republic, sister of the French Republic, to look to the safety of the universal moral law, to save Brown, to throw down the threatening scaffold of the 16th of December, and not to suffer that beneath its eyes, and I add, with a shudder, almost by its fault, the first fratricide be outdone.

For—yes, let America know it and ponder it well—there is something more terrible than Cain slaying Abel—it is Washington slaying Spartacus.

The wheat market rallied somewhat to-day from the depression of yesterday, and at the opening No. 1 advanced 1c, that grade selling on the street at $1,01@ 1.02. Extra did not go outside of yesterday's figures nominally, $1.03@1.05. There was more of a speculative feeling than we have witnessed for some time, and the sales include 10,000 bushels No. 1 for delivery February 1st, at $1.02, and 5,000 bushels for delivery in store all last week, at $1.01. The flour market was scarcely as firm, and some very good country Extra brands were offered at $4.62½ without finding a purchaser. Purchasers of all kinds remain pretty firm, Log products tending upward. There was a sale to-day of 4,000 bulk shoulders at 5½c.

Dressed hogs were not so active, but sold at about the same prices ruling yesterday; averages of 150 to 200 pounds selling at $5.25@5.75, and of 250 to 280 lbs and upwards at $5@5.12½c.

We observe occasionally in the published estimates of the log packing this season some wild estimates in regard to Milwaukee, the last of which puts the packing here at 60,000, on the authority of the Cincinnati Prices Current, we believe. The number of hogs received here since the beginning of the packing season is about 37,000. It is expected the packing will close with 5,000 to 6,000 to come in. Deducting 5,000 for city consumption, we may estimate the packing at 45,000 for this season, against 32,000 last year.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Receipts: 578 bbls flour; 3,171 bus wheat; 10,900 bus corn; 1,774 bus oats; 803 bus rye; 14,-200 lbs grass seed.

The receipts of hogs live and dressed to-day amounted to 1,425. The market in the morning was very firm at $5.50@5.60 for the freely paid for heavy lots of dressed. In the afternoon, however, owing to the prospect of a continued thaw, the market was rather weak, and $5.75@5 was about the outside for choice lots—the bulk of sales sold at $5.30@5.60 gross, with rather a quiet feeling.

The provision market continues to improve. To-day 500 bbls mess pork were sold at $12 25, and 200 bbls at $12 50—closing firm. Cut meats were also in active request, and prices show an improvement of ½@¾c. Sales with sales of 1,000 bulk sides at 5½@5¾c packed, and 40,000 bulk hams at 9c packed. Lard was more quiet and steady at 9½c bbls and 9¾c kegs, and we report a sale of 10,000 kegs at 9¾c. Lard was in good demand, and an additional lot of 75 was paid for, with sales of 700 packages at 9¾@ 9¾c.

The flour market is very bare of stock, and it continues firm, with sales at $4 75@$4 95 for fair to choice spring extra, and $5 00 for a choice lot of winter. Wheat was in good speculative and milling demand, and the market was very buoyant, with an advance of 2@2½c. Sales of No. 1 spring being made at $1 00 in store, and No. 2 Spring at 96@97c in store. There was in good demand for spring, and during inquiry, prices advanced 1@1½c. Sales being made at 44@46c for No. 1 on track, and 43c for 200 bus to be delivered next week. Oats advanced 1c, sales being confined to 32c in store. Barley was unchanged. Rye was firmer and in demand at 78c.—Barley firm, with sales of No. 1 at 60c in store. Highwines held at 21½c, shippers offering 21c freely. Lake and River pork held at $12@13 per bbl. Hides in better request and firm at 16c per pound.

Weekly Review of Milwaukee Markets.

SATURDAY EVENING, January 7, 1860.

FLOUR—Receipts 3,474 bbls against 4,788 last week.—Market firm and higher, but very inactive, owing partially to the difficulties in shipping, but principally to a lack of confidence in the present state of things.—The tendency, however, continues upward, and at the present writing Spring Extra is held at $4,50@4,75 for lots or choice country brands. Scarcely any sales have been made during the week. The only ones we know of are: 150 bbls "Monroe Merchants Mills" Spring Extra on Tuesday at $4,60; 50 bbls of another brand $4,50; and 200 bbls "Post Winnebago," Fine, on Wednesday at $3,25. Saturday, there were sales of 40 bbls "Bear Bell" spring Extra at $4,10; and 100 bbls "Silver Creek" do on p. t.

WHEAT—Receipts 40,142 bus against 42,192 last week. The wheat market opened actively on Tuesday, and continued improving up to Thursday, all grades having advanced 2@4c; No. 1 Spring selling on the track at $1,01@1,02, Extra at $1,06@1,07, and Club at prices ranging between these figures. On Friday the market receded to $1 for No. 1 and $1,05 for Extra, closing to-day at a slight improvement upon these figures. Below are the sales reported on 'change: Monday being observed as a holiday there was no business of any account done. Tuesday: 500 bus No. 2 Spring at $1,00; 1,000 bus do at 99c; 250 bus do at $1,00; 3,200 bus No. 1 do at 99c; 250 bus do at $1,00; 1,250 bus do at $1,01—1 at $1,00; 700 bus do at $1,00@; 1,750 bus do at $1,01—all on the track; 3-bus Club delivered at $1,04; 1,075 at $1,05 bus Extra at $1,05. Wednesday: 350 bus No. 1 at $1,00 on track; 1,000 bus do at $1,02; 100 bus do at $1,03 delivered; 375 bus Club delivered at $1,05; 600 bus do do at $1,06; 325 bus Extra at $1,06½; 250 bus do at $1,07; 200 bus common Winter at $1,05; 40 bus choice do at $1,07½. Thursday: 350 bus No. 2 on the track at 99c; 100 bus do delivered at $1,00; 1,000 bus No. 1 on track at $1,00; 350 bus do do at $1,00½; 150 bus delivered do at $1,01; 900 bus do do at $1,02; 350 bus Club delivered at $1,04; 200 bus do do at $1,03; 250 bus Extra delivered at $1,06; 200 and 400 bus do at $1,07. Friday: 2 cars No. 1 on the track at $1,00; 250 bus do do at $1,01; 1,450 bus do delivered at $1,02½; 300 bus mixed wheat at $1,04 delivered; 100 bus Club at $1,01; 250 bus Extra delivered at $1,05. Saturday: 2,250 bus No. 2 on track at 100½c; 600 bus No. 2 delivered at 101c; 950 bus No. 1 delivered, and 2,000 bus delivered in store, all next week, at 101c; 1,350 bus No. 1 on track, and 350 bus do delivered at 102c; 10,000 bus do to be delivered Feb. 1, at 102c; 500 bus Extra delivered, 300 bus sample, and 350 bus Club delivered at 104c; 200 bus Extra, and 100 bus Club delivered, at 105c.

BARLEY—Receipts 1,009 bus against 1,540 last week. The brewers are in the market and there has been quite an active demand for barley as material in the procurement over the prices ruling last week. The following sales will show the present state of the market: Tuesday: 40 bus Extra at 65c; 160 bus do at 66c.—Wednesday: 120 bus No. 1 at 64c; 40 bus Extra at 70c.

CORN—Receipts 2,120 bus against 3,226 bus last week. Corn remains inactive. There have been sales of a few car loads at 56c for ear and 55c for shelled.

RYE—There is scarcely any coming in at present and, therefore no market to-day.

OATS—Receipts 1,691 bus against 1,665 last week.—The supply of oats being unequal to the demand for home use prices have advanced 1@2c since last week. We note a few small sales at 33c, but at the present writing they are held at 36c. Saturday 100 bus sold at 36c delivered.

GRASS SEED—Receipts 50 bus, 560 lbs. There has been a good demand for grass seed at a range of $1,90@2 18 for good to prime Timothy. We note the following sales: 100 bus at $2; 50 bus prime at $2,18; 75 bus at $1,95. 40 bus Saturday at $2.

EGGS—Scarce and worth 19@19c by the barrel.

BUTTER—Receipts 2,159 lbs. There is only a moderate demand for butter at present at 11@12c for firkin and 12½@13c for crock and roll.

HIDES—Receipts 36,205 lbs, not including Chicago & Milwaukee R. R. We note a steady market at the following range of prices: Country green frozen 5½@6c; green salted, (fall cured,) 6½@7c; dry salted 10@11c; dry flint 12½@13½c.

PROVISIONS—All kinds of hog products are firm.—Sales 2,000 bulk sides at 7½c for this month's delivery, seller's option; 100 bbls lard, T. R. Rodds brand, at 10½. Heavy Mess Pork is held at $15@15,50; 4,000 bulk shoulders at 6½c for immediate delivery.
